NEW YORK, May 2.-R. G. Dun and Company's Weekly Review of Trade tonerrow will say:
Two large strikes, scheduled to commence on May 1st, were averted, at least temporarily, and a number of smaller temporarily, and a number of smaller ones were settled, but many new controversies have begun. This labor factor is the only seriously unfavorable one in the industrial situation, exerting considerable influence over the volume of transaction and also tending to unsettle confidence. A better volume of orders taken by the New England shoe shops is one of the most encouraging signs of the week. Steadiness in the leather market does not tend to encourage expectations of cheaper shees, however, and especially in view of the firmness of domestic hides, with another rise in imported grades. Jobbers in dry goods have felt the effects of good weather, and a brisk trade has been done at steady prices, although no general advance has followed the rise in raw cotton or the restricted operations at woolen Weak silver has continued to mitigate crainst exports to China. Overtime work at independent mills is partially neutralizing the effect of the weavers' strike.

Cereal prices have been less inflated by speculation than they were last week, yet a high level was maintained and only slight reactions occurred. The general tener of crop news was much more encou-raging, aside from Kansas dispatches, which indicate that wheat needs more meisture, although corn and oats have good prospects. Cotton continued advancing until there was a gain of $3.10

It is not unlikely that there will be a meeting at Amherst on the 18th. It is said that there is a strong sentiment up there for proclamation, and it does not seem at all unnatural, inasmuch as Bedford and Neison, in the same section, have already gone strongly that way. Judge C. J. Campbell, the representative in the Convention from Amherst, is warmly in favor of submission to the present electorate.

CHAS. J. SEARCEY NOW AT LIBERTY

Noted Train Robber Set Free Yesterday.

MAY NOW RETURN TO TEXAS

Stated He Would Work in C. & O. Offices in Newport News, but This is Strongly Denied-Probably Looking for Buried Treasure.

Charles Jasper Searcey, after serving nearly seven of his eight year term for being implicated in the famous Aquia Creek train robbery in 1894, with C. A. Morganfield, was liberated from the Virginia penitentiary at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and is now a free man. Scarcey went from here to Stafford county, where the robbery was committed, and, according to advices from Fredericksburg, is believed to be looking for the mency he is supposed to have buried after the robbery.

Morganfield has eleven more years to serve Although there had been some Morganiield has cleven more years to serve. Although there had been some talk of a requisition from the Governor of Arkansas for Searcey, in which State some ten years ago he is alleged to have committed a robbery, no papers were here for him from anywhere, and he left the prison unmolested. Searcey secured transportation to Brooke, the station on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad just below where the robbery was committed in Stafford county, and boarded the 9:05 A. M. northern robbery was committed in Stafford county, and boarded the 9:05 A. M. northern train at Elba Station. He said he was going to Fredericksburg to visit some friends, and would then return to Newport News, where, he said, he had secured a permanent position as a clerk in the Chesapeake and Ohio offices. Searcey has been an admirable prisoner, and never missed a day from work during his entire term.

JOINED THE CHURCH.

He professed religion early in his term.

ing his entire term.

JOINED THE CHURCH.

He professed religion early in his term. and gave the management of the prison absolutely no trouble. This credited him with more than a year, which was deducted from his term, hence his early release from the prison. He seemed to have plenty of money yesterday, and said he had been well paid for his work by the Davis Boot and Shoe Company, where he acted in the capacity of a clerk during most of his term.

Searcey would say absolutely nothing concerning the famous Aquia Creek hold-up, which was so bold as to startle the whole State. Neither would he say a word about his old friend Morganfield, who, it will be recollected, has often threatened to kill Searcey for turning State's evidence upon him at the trial.

WORN AND HAGGARD.

Searcey looked haggard and pale from his long confinement, and his once brown hear is now slightly tinged with gray.

his long confinement, and his once brown bair is now slightly tinged with gray. He wore a serious look, though it could not be called sullen. He was warm in his praise of the treatment accorded him at the penitentiary, and thanked all the officers and guards personally who were on duty yesterday morning, and left his best wishes for the rest. He was clad in n neat suit of black, and when released walked immediately to Elba Station, where he waited nearly an hour for his train. He talked pleasantly with those who approached him on all subjects save the two mentioned above, but appeared a Effice restless until his train left, as if he stil apprehended that at the last moment is mething might rise up to stand between im and the freedom for which he had orged so many, many years.

FELT MUCH SAFER.
He breathed a sigh of relief as he slipped into the car and waved a pleasant farewell to those who had engaged him in conversation about the station. If Sear-cry intends to locate at Newport News, as he says, this blasts the theory that he as he says, this blasts the theory that he lorged to return to his aged mother in Texas, who has written many pathetic letters here seeking his pardon. There are several sggestions concerning the probability of his mission North. One is that instead of stopping in Fredericksburg Searcey went through to Washington, and will from there proceed to Texas. It is argued that it does not appear reasonable that the man would locate in Newport News under his own name, when Newport News under his own name, when it is openly said that he is wanted for crime in another State. MAY SEARCH FOR GOLD.

Another suggestion is that Searcey has probably gone to Stafford county to search for the money which he and Morgan-field are supposed to have hidden there fjust-after their daring hold up of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac train in 1804, and while endeavoring to elude the clutches of the law. It will be recalled that after his arrest, Searcey was taken by the officers from point to point in Stafford in search of the coveted prize, but that the search was finally abandoned, the bandit insist-ing toward the last that he could not locate the spot where the gold had been buried. There are many who believe that the money-probably about $8,000-is still lying in the sands of Stafford, and that Searcey knowing where it is, has gone there to get it.

EMPHATICALLY DENIED.

The following dispatch was received by The Times last night from its New-port News correspondent, in answer to an inquiry on the subject: "The statement made by Train Robber

It is believed that Searcey will most likely proceed direct to Washington, and that he is now making his way from Virginia as rapidly as it is possible for him to do so. Of course his movements are simply a matter of conjecture, but he is probably on his way to Texas at this hour.

A special received by The Times last night from Fredericksburg says:

"Searcey passed through here this morning, but did not stop. He went to Stafford Courthouse, where he spent most of the day in conference with T. Weldon Perry, his old attorney. He was seen going through the woods near Brooke station at about sunset. It is thought he was through the woods near Brooke station at about sunset. It is thought he was going during the night to the place where the stolen money was buried. As it is roining hard here and very dark he will have little to disturb him, although several citizens are watching his movements. He says he will remain in Stafford county for several days." for several days."

A Fishing Party at "Mineola."

On Thursday, April 1st, a party of gentlemen, composed of Messrs, Harry Eichelberger, Stuart Jones, P. H. Mr. Eichelberger and Mr. Young Jones caught the greatest number of fish, while Mr. Gray, cot bittes galary, but the fish caught the greatest number of fish, while Mr. Gray got bites galore, but the fish evidently didn't like his bait.
